To whom it may concern:

I am happy to write a letter on behalf of Tom Winton.

He came to me highly recommended by a professional acquaintance and since taking over the design and maintenance of my web site an operation that had been a trial became a pleasure.

As someone who has worked in publishing - Town & Country Magazine and in Architecture - I. M Pei and Partners among many other areas of business and design I would say that here in Florida it was very refreshing to find someone who was trained in not only the technical aspects of the computer part of the equation, but who also understood and respected the need for a high level of line quality and design integrity.

I know there are not many in this area of Florida that rise to his standards and understanding of the demands of clean design.

Very truly yours
